

Smoot Plastic Surgery practice welcomes Reza Sadrian, MD

Reza Sadrian, MD, has accepted an appointment to the plastic surgery practice of Wendell Smoot, MD, and John Smoot, MD, as a member of their medical team in response to demand for additional services of their growing clientele.

Dr. Sadrian has over 16 years of extensive training and is only one of a few plastic surgeons in the country dually certified in Oral and Maxillofacial surgery as well as Plastic and Reconstructive surgery. He has been in practice in San Diego, CA, for ten years and brings a broad range of skills and highly qualified expertise to the team.

According to Dr. Sadrian, "It's a privilege to join a practice that has the highest reputation in the industry and offers a judicious approach to surgical procedures. I strive to provide excellent care with integrity, honesty and a 'sometimes less is more' philosophy --- this move is a perfect fit for me." His plastic and general surgery training, combined with four additional years of study in Oral and Maxillofacial surgery make him uniquely qualified to perform complex facial procedures, including extensive face lifts and rhinoplasty. This background offers a creative approach to his work. "When it comes to the face, my experience allows me to view and work three dimensionally, addressing every aspect --- bone, soft tissue, skin. It can really make a dramatic effect in a patient's outcome."

Dr. Sadrian completed his medical degree at Eastern Virginia and his doctorate of dental surgery at University of Washington, Seattle. He finished his training in Oral and Maxillofacial surgery at John Hopkins and University of Maryland including the Maryland Shock trauma in Baltimore. Following his general surgery training in Seattle, he went on to complete his plastic surgery training at Baylor College of Medicine located within the Texas Medical Center in Houston, the largest medical center worldwide. Dr. Sadrian is trained in all aspects of facial and body plastic surgery procedures as well as microsurgery (for both cancer and trauma reconstruction), peripheral nerve surgery, hand surgery, craniofacial surgery and pediatric plastic surgery.

The surgical center for the practice has three fully accredited surgical suites, a recovery unit and a qualified nursing and support staff of 17 members as well as a Laser and Skin Care Clinic, utilizing the state-of-the-art Sciton XC laser. The facility is located in the Ximed building on the campus of Scripps Memorial Hospital La Jolla, with a private back entrance for complete privacy and exclusivity.
